

Dear Colleagues,

I would like to remind the Computing in Cardiology (CIC) community that in 2011, it is necessary to hold an election in keeping with the bylaws in respect of a vacancy on the Board of Directors. Computing in Cardiology holds elections for the Board every 3 years. All elected Board Members are initially elected for a 3 year term but can be re-elected for two further 3 year terms. This is desirable given that continuity is essential in managing the Computing in Cardiology organization.

As head of the nominating committee, I am soliciting suggestions for Board membership from the Computing in Cardiology community at large. I want to extend the invitation again to those who have supported CIC over the years to feel free to suggest candidates that they feel would help CIC move in a direction they envision for CIC.

If you have a person you feel is qualified and would like to suggest for CIC Board membership, I encourage you to contact one of the three nominating committee members listed below by the end of July with your suggestion.
